THE BEST FRIENDS OF PE-RU-NA ARE THE MOTHERS AND CHILDREN

When Sickness Comes to the Little Ones It is the Mother Who Chiefly Suffers.

She suffers even more than the child who happens to be sick. Her sympathy is deeper than that of any other member of the family.

The mothers look forward with dread to the torrid heat of summer, thinking of their children and the many liabilities to disease that are before them.

Spring and summer are sure to bring ailments, especially among the little folks.

It does not take a mother very long to discover that Peruna is the best friend she has in times of illness among the children.

The doctors may come and go with their different theories and constant change of remedies.

The doctor of years ago gave entirely different remedies than he does today.

Each year finds some change in his prescriptions and in the drugs he relies upon.

A Multitude of Mothers

Have discovered that Peruna is the stand-by, and that in all the ailments of spring and summer to which the children are subjected, Peruna is the remedy that will most quickly relieve.

Whether it is spring fever or stomach derangement, whether it is indigestion or bowel disease, a catarrhal congestion of the mucous surfaces is the cause.

Peruna quickly relieves this condition of the mucous membranes. Its operation is prompt, the children do not dislike to take the medicine, it has no deleterious effects in any part of the body.

It simply removes the cause of the disagreeable symptoms and restores the health.

Peruna is not a physic. Peruna is not a nerve nor a narcotic. Peruna does not produce any drug habit, however long it may be taken. Peruna is not a stimulant.

Peruna is a specific remedy for all catarrhal ailments of winter and summer, acute or chronic.

The mothers all over the United States are the best friends that Peruna has.

The Mothers Hold Per-na in High Esteem.

Not only because it has cured them of their various ailments, but because it always rescues the children from the throes and grasp of catarrhal diseases.

We have in our files hundreds of testimonials from mothers whose children have been cured by Peruna. However, the large majority of mothers who use Peruna, we never hear from.

But we do hear from a great number of mothers who are so overjoyed at some special good they have received from Peruna that they cannot restrain their enthusiasm. They are anxious to share these benefits with other mothers.

The Benefit Which the Children of the United States Have Received From Pe-ru-na Can Never Be Put Into Words.

The chronic ailments it has prevented, the suffering it has mitigated, will never be fully recorded.

But at least this much can be said that the coming generation owes a great debt to Peruna, for it is in the tender years of youth that slight ailments are liable to develop into lasting disease, thus blasting the whole career of the individual.

The mothers who are bringing up their children today to believe in Peruna are doing a great work for humanity.

These children brought up to believe in Peruna from the start, will, when they become heads of families themselves, use Peruna with unquestioning faith.

Pe-ru-na Protects the Entire Household.

As soon as the value of Peruna is appreciated by every household, both as a preventive and cure, tens of thousands of lives will be saved, and hundreds of thousands of chronic, lingering cases of catarrh will be prevented.

Mrs. Theresa Rooke, 258 N. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill., Treasurer Ladies' of the Macabees, writes:

"In our home Peruna is the only medicine we have. Grandmother, mother, father and child, all have used Peruna. It is our great remedy for catarrh of the stomach and head, colds, and female complaints of which it has cured me.

"We find it of great value when my husband becomes worn out or catches cold. A couple of doses cure him.

"If the baby has colic, or any stomach disorders, a dose or two cures her.

"I consider Peruna finer than any doctor's medicine that I have ever tried, and I know that as long as we have it in the house, we will all be able to keep in good health."—Theresa Rooke.

No Doctor Required.

Mr. Edward Otto, 927 De Soto street, St. Paul, Minn., writes:

"I cannot say enough for Peruna. It has done great work in my family, especially for my oldest boy. We had doctored with three or four different doctors and they did not seem to do him any good.

"We gave up hopes of cure, and so did they, but we pulled him through on Peruna.

"We had several doctors and they said they could do no more for him so we tried Peruna as a last resort, and that did the work. Since then we keep it in the house all the time, and no doctor is required."—Edward Otto.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peruna does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh.

There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years.

Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any drugs of a narcotic nature.

Mr. G. H. Farmer, New Martinsville, W. Va., writes:

"Our little son, Harry, is well and healthy now and we think if we do as you directed us, he will keep his health and grow strong.

"We know that our little son's life was saved by your wonderful medicine, Peruna, and we shall always praise Peruna and use it in our family when needed.

"Should we have any more catarrhal trouble in our family, we shall always write to you for treatment."—G. H. Farmer.

Mr. Howard Andrew Sterner, Muddy Creek, Pa., writes:

"I have Peruna in my house all the time and won't be without it. It is good for children when they take a cold or croup. It cured my baby boy of croup.

"I have introduced Peruna into six families since I received your last letter, and four have seen relief already."—Howard Andrew Sterner.

Pe-ru-na Should Be Kept In Every Household

Where There Are Little Children.

Peruna should be kept in the house all the time. Don't wait until the child is sick, then send to a drug store. But, have Peruna on hand—accept no substitute.

Children are especially liable to acute catarrh. Indeed, most of the affections of childhood are catarrh.

All forms of sore throat, quinsy, croup, hoarseness, laryngitis, etc., are but different phases of catarrh.

Mrs. Amelia Sailer, Menasha, Wis., writes:

"I have used Peruna for a number of years. It cured me of chronic catarrh which I suffered with from infancy.

"When my three children were born they all had catarrh, but I have given them Peruna and find it very effective in ridding them of this horrible trouble. I find that it is also good to give them as a tonic and a preventative of colds and colic.

"In fact, I consider it a household blessing. I would not know how to raise my children without it. I am pleased to give it my recommendation."—Amelia Sailer.

SEEKING ARMISTICE.

Russia and Japan should Cease Active Hostilities.

President Roosevelt Presenting Humane Side of the Proposition.

[Special to THE REPUBLICAN.]

Washington D. C. June 28, 1905.

The President not content with having instituted negotiations with promise to bring about peace between Russia and Japan, is now trying diligently to arrange an armistice between the opposing armies. Of course the subject, partaking as it does of a military character, is a most delicate one and the President could not urge the arrangement on either power unless he were in a position to offer some guarantee with regard to the attitude of the other, which he obviously cannot do. He is, never the less presenting in the strongest possible light the humane side of the proposition and the pity of it if more lives should be lost at a time when permanent peace seems to be in sight.

At present there seems to be little likelihood that the President's humane efforts will prove successful because of the insistence by Japan that she cannot risk a loss of the strategic advantages she now enjoys in Manchuria without some more definite and frank indication from Russia that she desires peace than that Nation has thus far given, even in her somewhat equivocal response to the President's identical note. Russia on the other hand, pursuing her time honored policy of avoiding every semblance of frankness in her diplomacy, positively refuses to commit herself. Japan, somewhat naturally, assumes that Russia will be compelled to adopt a more reasonable attitude when the battle for which Oyama is now preparing has been fought. This view is generally shared in the diplomatic corps in Washington but there is naturally, deep regret that the battle which must inevitably result in fearful loss of life, cannot be prevented. There are a few diplomats of more sanguine temperament who insist that it may be possible for the President to succeed in his humane negotiations even where any other man would fail.

Call For Convention.

At a meeting of the Republican committee of the Hartford Magisterial District held at Hartford, Ky., on June 27, 1905, it was ordered that a mass convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for the office of Magistrate and Constable for said district be held at Beaver Dam at 2 o'clock p. m., on Saturday, July 15, 1905.

DESPERATE EFFORT

Made by Robert Mathley to Escape From Prison.

Tried to Over Power Jailer Ashby in His Cell at Noon Last Sunday.

Owensboro, Ky., June 27.—In the cell which he has occupied since his incarceration, Robert Mathley assaulted and attempted to overpower Jailer Ashby at noon on Sunday. The jailer had entered the cage to give the prisoners their dinner. Mathley seized him by the left arm and grappled him with the other hand. Jailer Ashby caught Mathley by the throat and forced him to the floor, saying as he did so, "Bob, I going to whip you without hitting you a lick."

After being forced to the floor Mathley made no further struggle. He did not utter a word during the entire time Jailer Ashby was in the cage, neither before, after nor during the struggle. Mr. Ashby received a severe bruise on his arm where Mathley grasped him. Mathley was not injured, except some bruises about the throat. Mr. Ashby does not understand why Mathley assaulted him, unless it was on account of his having gotten possession of the letter containing Mathley's plan of escape. It is understood that Mathley has frequently told his fellow prisoners that he was going to whip Mr. Ashby for the part he took in the affair of the letter.

Previous to Sunday Mathley has always been a model prisoner, being always courteous to the attendants, with one exception. He is said to have had a fight with one of the prisoners sometime ago. Some of his relatives were in the jail at the time of the assault and had been talking to him only a few seconds before he clinched the jailer. It is possible that he had been telling them of his hardships and had worked himself into frenzy.

Mr. Ashby says that Mathley appeared to be remarkably strong, considering the fact that he has been in close confinement for a year. The struggle lasted for only about a minute, but Mr. Ashby says that it required rather vigorous work on his part for that length of time. Mathley is quite tall, and while rather slender, is doubtless quite a strong man. In a contest with anyone except so powerful a man as Jailer Ashby he would have had a chance of success.

Twenty-Seven Years Ago.

A few days ago C. P. Morris, of Ceralvo, while visiting C. P. Brown, of the West Providence neighborhood, was out in Mr. Brown's field and discovered a terrapin which, on examination, bore the initials of Mr. Brown, "C. P. B." in plain letters and the figures 1878 the date when the initials were carved there. Although the letters and figures had been there 27 years they could be plainly seen and read.

The terrapin was carried to Mr. Brown and after reflection he recalled having carved his initials there years ago. He says that it was apparently an old terrapin at

THREE KILLED,

And Many Hurt in Collision on the I. C.

Freight Crashed into a Passenger Train That Had Stopped to Repair Brakes.

Louisville, Ky., June 27.—Three passengers were killed and sixteen persons injured as the result of a rear-end collision on the Illinois Central railroad near Vine Grove Ky., Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The cause of the wreck is not known and an investigation is in progress. The trainmen stated that passenger train No. 122, which was an accommodation train bound for Louisville, was running about six miles an hour, when fast freight No. 14, running twenty-five miles an hour dashed around a curve and ran into it. The two rear coaches of the accommodation were demolished. Little damage was done the freight train and the engineer and fireman escaped by jumping.

According to a statement furnished an official of the railroad company passenger train No. 122 northbound, and due at Louisville at 4:55, had just left Vine Grove and in going down the steep grade the air brakes refused to work and Engineer Farley brought his train to a standstill to repair them. While the train was standing, extra freight No. 14 en route from Central City to Red Top in charge of Engineer Martin Fitzgibbon and Conductor George Cline rounded the curve at the top of the grade. At this point Fitzgibbon seemed to have lost control of his engine and the heavy train started wildly down grade. The operator endeavored to block the freight, but before he could get the block signal in position the freight had rushed past the station. Engineer Fitzgibbon did all in his power to stop his engine, and when he saw that a rear end collision was not to be avoided he cried to his fireman to jump and neither was injured.

W. I. Rowe Dead.

Mr. W. I. Rowe, one of the best known citizens of the county, died at his home near Centertown Tuesday night after an illness of only a few days of a complication of troubles. His remains were interred in the Centertown cemetery Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Rowe has been well and favorably known over the entire county for many years. He served as a member of the Fiscal Court of the county for years, perhaps longer than any other in the history of the county, during which time the greatest strides in the county's improvements were made. He had been a lifelong Republican and stood high in the party's councils. He was the nominee of the Republican party for Representative about 1890 but the Populist wave which swept over the county at that time, carried with it the election of his Populist opponent.

He leaves a large family and many other relatives and friends to mourn his demise.

MYSTERIOUS VANISHINGS.

Tragedies of Real Life Hidden in Peculiar Cases.

How Thousands of Men Annually Drop out of Sight and Never Reappear.

[Brooklyn Eagle.]

More than 5,000 persons annually disappear in the United States and are never heard from again. At first blush the assertion seems incredible, and police statistics furnish confirmation. The actual figures, based on a conservative calculation, are even more alarming than those given. In fact, the reports of the police department of the larger cities show that in the twelve months just passed 16,008 of the persons who disappeared during the year were never reported as found; but the shrewd police officers, accustomed to the eccentricities of human nature, are of the opinion that the return of many thousands of these persons, through shame or indifference, was never reported at police headquarters. But even after making allowance for this feature of the case it is reasonably certain that more than 5,000 persons were swallowed up in oblivion.

The tragedies of real life hidden within these peculiar cases, if they could but be brought to light, would rival many of the novels penned by the world's greatest writers. No subject that can be imagined has such weird fascination as that of the thousands who have gone down this grand canyon of oblivion.

It would be possible to fill many pages with the absorbing stories of these curious cases, but nearly every reader of the newspaper, whether he lives in village, town or city, is probably acquainted with some instance of the kind concerning either friend or relative. Men and women who have lost all they have treasured most in life in his manner go about vacantly, numbly, ever waiting for the return of the missing one, a dream that never comes true.

A glance at the police statistics in a few of the leading cities shows the ever growing extent of the "disappearance habit." In the city of New York during the last year 1,415 persons were reported to the police as missing. Of this number 751 returned to their homes, leaving 664 still missing or unaccounted for. In Philadelphia during the same period 1,912 persons were reported as missing. Of this number 1,555 returned to their homes, leaving 357 who were still in the land of the missing. In Boston during the year, 411 persons were reported as missing, and 108 of these were afterwards located leaving 303 unaccounted for. This percentage of unexplained cases is larger in proportion than either New York or Philadelphia, but Superintendent Pierce is of the opinion that a number of those persons reported as missing afterwards sought their homes and the friends or relatives neglected to notify the police of the fact.

A White Man's Penalty.

For the first time in the history of criminal jurisprudence in this State, and perhaps in the entire South, says a Jackson, Miss. correspondent to the News, the Supreme Court of Mississippi has sentenced a white man to serve a life term in the penitentiary for committing a criminal assault on a negro girl.

The decision is given added significance by reason of the fact that the case comes on appeal from the heart of the black belt of the State, the famous Yazoo-Mississippi Delta.

Special Judge Cox, in affirming the life sentence, used the following notable language:

"The safety of all women and the preservation of the sanctity of our homes depend upon the certainty and promptness with which crimes of this character shall be visited with condign punishment, it matters not how humble and friendless the victim nor what be race or color."

WHEN DOES A MAN DIE?

Question Cannot Be Answered, as the Process Is Gradual.

[The World To-Day.]

In the first place, there is no definite moment of death. We all are gradually dying for years. The moment which is ordinarily ascribed to death is when the breathing stops, but this is purely arbitrary and the survival of an old belief that life was drawn in the breath and the soul passed out with the breath. The heart may continue to beat many minutes, and in animals under experimental conditions even for hours after respiration has stopped; the muscles are still irritable; the nerves are still able to carry nerve impulses. But, while the cessation of respiration cannot be called the moment of death, it is the cause of it, because the body cannot live without air; the heart, accordingly, stops and the tissues die of suffocation.

How arbitrary it is to call a man dead when his heart ceases to beat and he no longer breathes will be apparent when it is remembered that boys may easily be revived after they have lain in this state for six or more minutes. If a dog's chest is opened and artificial respiration begun, and if the heart is taken in the hand and rhythmically squeezed gradually it begins to beat again, the dog begins to breathe—in fact, he recovers normal life. I believe the same experiment has not been tried in men, for the reason that in illness the system is generally so poisoned by the toxins of disease as to make it impossible spontaneously to recover, even though the heart should be kept beating. The heart of a man may in some cases be made to beat again outside the body if defibrinated blood is circulated through it.

We cannot therefore answer the question. When does a man die? If we mean by a man his body, this dies piecemeal, one organ after another; if we mean the man's personality, this evidently disappears when he loses consciousness; and from this point of view he may be said to die when he falls in deep slumber, certainly when he is anesthetized.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

GENIUS KIN TO INSANITY.

Great Thinkers Were Subject to Hallucinations, Says Lombroso.

[Chicago Chronicle.]

The resemblance between insanity and genius, although it does not show that these two should be confounded, proves at all events, that one does not exclude the other in the same subject.

In fact, without speaking of the numerous men of genius who at some periods of their lives were subject to hallucinations or insanity of those who like Vico, terminated a greater career in dementia, how many great thinkers have shown themselves at their lives subject to monomania or hallucinations!

In recent times insanity has shown itself in Farini, Brougham, Southey, Govone, Gounod, Gutzkow, Monge, Faurey, Cowper, Rocchia, Ricci, Feniccia, Engel, Pergolesi, Batjuskoff, Murgin, William Collins, Technor, Holderlen Von Der West, Gallo Spedolieri, Bellingeri, Salieri, Johannes, Muller, Lenz, Barbara, Fuseli, Petermann, the caricaturist Cham, Hamilton, Poe, Ulrich.

Montanus, a victim to solitude and a disordered imagination, was convinced that he had become a grain of wheat. He refused to move for fear of being swallowed by birds.

Harrington is said to have imagined that disease took the form of bees and flies and for this reason retired to a cabin armed with a broom to disperse them.

Nathaniel Lee, the dramatist, composed thirteen tragedies during the course of his disease.

Charlie Lamb, in early life, had an attack of insanity, which was hereditary in his family. Writing of this to Coleridge he said: "At some future time I will amuse you with an account, as full as my memory will permit, of the strange turns my frenzy took. I look back upon it at times with a gloomy king of envy for while it lasted I had many, many hours of pure happiness. Dream not, Coleridge, of having tasted all of the grandeur and wildness of fancy until you have gone mad. All now seems to me vapid or comparatively so."

The great August Comte, the initiator of the positivist philosophy, was for ten years under the care of Esquirol, the famous alienist. He recovered, but only to repudiate without any cause, the wife who had saved him. Later he—who had wished to abolish all priestcraft—believed himself the priest and apostle of a materialistic religion. In his works, amid stupendous elaborations genuine maniacal ideas may be found.

When we reflect that the genuine lunatic may give proof of temporary genius, a phenomenon calculated to inspire the populace with an astonishment, which soon produces veneration, we find a solid agreement against those jurists and judges who from the soundness and activity of the intellect infer complete moral responsibility to the total exclusion of the possibility of insanity.

We also see our way to an interpretation of the mystery of genius, its contradictions and those of its mistakes, which an ordinary man would have avoided.

And we can explain to ourselves how it is that madmen, or maddoids even with little or no genius (Pasanante, Lizzarretti, Drabicius, Fourier, Fox) have been able to excite the populace, and sometimes even to bring about serious political revolution.

Better still shall we understand how those who were at once men of genius and insane (Mohammed, Luther, Savonarola, Schopenamer) could—despising and overcoming obstacles which would have dismayed many cool and deliberate minds—hasten by whole centuries and unfolding of truth, and how such men have originated nearly all of the religious, and certainly all the seeds which have agitated the world.

The frequency of genius among lunatics and of madmen among men of genius explains the fact that the destiny of nations has often been in the hands of the insane and shows how the latter have been able to contribute so much to the progress of mankind.

In short, by those analogies and coincidences between the phenomena of genius and mental aberration it seems as if nature had intended to teach us respect for the supreme misfortunes of insanity, and also to preserve us from being dazzled by the brilliancy of those men of genius who might well be compared, not to the plants, which keep their appointed orbits, but to falling stars, lost and disappeared over the crust of the earth.

Sunflower Philosophy.

There is a lot of fool talk.

A rebel can always justify rebellion.

It is claimed that seven out of ten men sulk.

It is easier for a woman to behave than it is for a man.

Let posterity take care of itself; look after your interests.

An automobile is like a woman—liable to sulk at any time about nothing.

Some people think it is all right to ask for anything, if they can get it.

The great doctrine is: The better you behave, the better you will get along.

The first month after a man buys an automobile he doesn't do a thing but play with it.

"I am tired," said a man to-day, "of what is generally known as playing and singing."

A married man often says, in speaking of his children: "Well, it's their mother's notion."

Guessing At It.

"William Jones, the patient who came in a little while ago," said the hospital attendant, "did not give his occupation."

"What was the nature of his trouble?" asked the resident physicians. "Injury at the base of the spine."

"Put him down as a book agent."

Long Courtship.

Bohemia is the country of long courtships. In no other part of the world are they so abnormally drawn out. It is not rare to hear of engagements which have extended from fifteen to twenty years. An old man died recently in Prague at the age of ninety-nine, who had been courting a sweet heart of sixty-two years.

FAMOUS TREATIES.

Paris Has Had Six of Them, All Important, Named After It.

If Russians and Japanese really negotiate their peace agreement at Washington the treaty will be known as the "treaty of Washington." Among the most important of the world's treaties are the following: The treaty of Westphalia (1648), which ended the Thirty Years' War. The peace of the Pyrenees (1659) definitely marked the fall of Spain from its position as the leader of Europe. A historian says: "When Spain signed with France of the Pyrenees she signed away with it the last remnant of the supremacy she had exercised in Europe. France, the victor, took the place of Spain in the councils of the continent." By the peace of Augsburg (1555) religious freedom was assured to Germany and the war between Protestants and Catholics came to an end. The treaty of Utrecht in 1713 terminated the war of the Spanish succession.

A number of the most important treaties in modern history are known as the treaties of Paris. They are six in number and bear the dates of 1763, 1783, 1814, 1815, 1856 and 1898. The first of the series marked the end of the Seven Years' War. Among other things it provided for the cession to Great Britain of Canada and the region east of the Mississippi River. The treaty of Paris September 3, 1783, between Great Britain and the United States, marked the close of the American Revolution and recognized the independence of the colonies. The aggressions of France under Napoleon found their conclusion in the treaties of Paris of 1814 and 1815, by the second of which France was compelled to pay an indemnity to the allies amounting in all to near $300,000,000.

In 1856 a treaty of Paris was concluded among the Powers at the close of the Crimean war. It provided that the Black Sea should be neutralized and that it should be thrown open to the merchant marine of every nation. The treaty of Paris of December 10, 1898, terminated the Spanish-American war. Spain relinquished her sovereignty in Cuba and ceded Porto Rico, Guam and the Philippines to the United States. For the Philippines it received $20,000,000. Other important treaties were that of Berlin, Marry Without Knowing of Their Relation.

When They Learned the Fact They Separated Never to Meet Again.

Columbus, Ohio, June 28.—A matrimonial venture teeming with sadness and most peculiar circumstances has just been brought to light. Carrie Begedonoff, a pretty Russian Jewess, was the happy bride of her own blood uncle for three months before the discovery was made.

F. K. Friedman, the unhappy groom, on learning the truth, philosophically requested a separation, and after consulting lawyers, went his way with a heart full of sorrow, while the grief-stricken girl returned her parents in Russia.

It was in Cleveland that fate decreed that Carrie Begedonoff should meet her uncle, F. K. Friedman, and there learned to love him and become his wife. The best of wishes where extended to the couple when they left to seek their fortune in Columbus. In far off Russia there was a good old mother that Carrie must inform of her taking into her self a husband. She gave his name and the mother in answer to her letter, after extending the usual blessing, told Carrie that Friedman was her maiden name. Further inquiries were made, and it took but a short time to discover what perverse fate had done. To the surprise of both Friedman and his pretty wife they found they were of the same blood.

To an attorney they told their tale of woe, and he rendered an opinion at some length, attempting to prove that no divorce was necessary, as under the law it was null and void. This opinion was written by former Congressman Emmett Tompkins and was reviewed by Attorney Henry Gumble. Friedman left for parts unknown upon the disclosure of his awful mistake. Carrie, whose cup was full to overflowing, at once made arrangement to find her parents in Russia. Nor was she in need of money, for she was supplied plentifully by Friedman before his departure.

Friedman came to this country some time ago, and when he left Russia his sister's child was a wee tot. He had heard from home but a few times, but the saddest message was that which informed him that he was the husband of his own sister's child.

BUTTON BEE

Is the Worst Terror Since the Kissing Bug.

[New York Cor. Baltimore Sun.]

A pest of a rather peculiar character has been disturbing the folks of Flatbush.

It is known locally as a "button bee," because of the remarkable tenacity with which it sticks to clothes. It is about the size of and similar in shape to a trousers button, and individuals have noticed that once it gets its claws into one's clothes it is almost impossible to loosen its grip. When it is finally detached it falls to the ground with a buzzing sound, like that of the honey maker. Hence, apparently, the name of "button bee."

Strangely enough, although the button bee is sometimes as large as a nickel and always as large as a dime, screens are useless to keep it out of houses. It seems especially to like houses with hardwood floors, and persons called out of bed late at night receive the first intimation of the presence of a button bee by standing upon it, when the hard surface causes severe pain. Should it chance that the button bee be on its back, which is the position in which it sleeps, it fastens its powerful claws into the foot of the walker, causing acute pain and a wound more or less severe.

In detaching the creature, if a part of a claw should remain in the flesh blood poisoning might possibly ensue. Physicians have had several cases of this kind.

A remarkable characteristic of the button bee is that, like misery, it loves company. When couples are

For over a third of a century Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has sold more largely than any other blood purifier or tonic.

and nervous force is used when you take an alternative extract of herbs and roots, without the use of alcohol, like Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This vegetable medicine coaxes the digestive functions and helps in the assimilation of food, or rather takes from the food just the nutriment the blood requires.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood and entirely eradicates the poisons that breed and feed disease. It thus cures scrofula, eczema, erysipelas, boils, pimples, and other eruptions that mar and scar the skin. Pure blood is essential to good health. The weak, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people experience is commonly the effect of impure blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery not only cleanses the blood of impurities, but it increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and it enriches the body with an abundant supply of pure, rich blood.

No matter how powerful the intellect or the resources of intellectual power, it must be backed up by physical force. Every day the youth or man must manufacture a pint of rich, arterial blood, that is pure, stimulating to the brain, and that can rebuild the tissues that were destroyed in yesterday's work.

sitting on the porches at night button bees are sure to appear in great numbers. An observer says that this is especially true of the porches of houses which do not have street lamps in front of them. Whether the button bee is essentially a lover of darkness is not known. Experts are divided as to the species to which this new bug belongs.

It is remarked that in localities where the button bees are most frequent mosquitoes are not numerous. This suggests that it is the natural enemy of the more general pest. Some experiments are being made toward the ascertaining of the truth of this theory.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Mad By Hunter in a Hand-To-Hand Fight With Monster Bear.

[Denver Post.]

A hand-to-hand encounter with one of the largest silvertip bears ever seen in this part of the country and a mad dash down a steep hillside to grasp the branch of a head pine tree just in time, to a fraction of a second, to save his body from being torn to shreds by the maddened animal which had been shot in the mouth and also through the heart, is the thrilling story related by John T. Sanders, of Florence, Colo., a Justice of the Peace, whose reputation for veracity is well known.

The exciting experience was had by Mr. Sanders, Isaac Sanders, his father, and George Banks the latter two being well known bear hunters of these parts, a short time ago. These three men, Mr. Sanders Sr., with a shotgun loaded with birdshot and hunting wild pigeons; Mr. Banks, with a 45-100 caliber rifle, who was out for anything that was large enough for his gun to kill, and John Sanders who always fancied hunting dogs, with his pack with him that day, started out in the lower range of the Greenhorn Mountains for a quiet hunt. They had not proceeded more than 100 yards south of the senior Mr. Sanders' home when he three fierce-looking bears lying on the outskirts of an oak thicket. Not knowing the meaning of fear and having only a shotgun in his hand, he raised the bears, which becoming frightened, ran to the opposite side of the thicket. Following them Mr. Sanders again chased the trio back to the starting point.

Again he proposed chasing them to another position, hoping that the junior Sanders and Mr. Banks would arrive with the rifle and dogs before they made to the hills. Just as the bears started up the hill the two men appeared and Banks shot one of the bears in the right shoulder, breaking it.

Even this severe wound did not prevent Mr. Grizzly from making his escape, but before it and the two companions did so they were forced to put up a desperate battle with the bulldogs that were trained in bear hunting and fighting. While the dogs were engaging the attention of the frightened bears the older Sanders sneaked up to them and was going to shoot. One of the smaller ones of the lot saw him, and, with a roar, gave chase after the man. It was anybody's race while it lasted, but Mr. Sanders, being fleet of foot, kept well ahead of the animal and finally sprang up a tree and out of the way of the bear.

The animal kept on running and received a charge of shot in the side from Mr. Sanders' shotgun. The animal was felled to the ground and bit at the earth in a furious manner. Regaining his strength he ran over the hills but was not pursued by the hunters.

The dogs again took up the scent of the other two bears and a chase of two miles was made before they were located. They were found under the shade limbs of a spruce tree, hiding. Just the moment bruin discovered they were located they rushed from their hiding place and put up a hand-to-hand fight with the hunters and dogs, two of the dogs being knocked a distance of fully two feet by heavy blows landed on their sides by the bears' paws. Isaac Sanders and Banks clubbed the bears with the stock of their guns for several minutes, but the continuous pounding of the bears' heads did not have the desired effect. By this time the dogs had rallied from the pounding administered by bruin and again joined the fight. Their work this time was effective, the bears started to run away. While in the running act Banks shot one of them, he fell and the dogs were upon the suffering animal in an instant. The uninjured beast fought single-handed for his wounded companion.

Bank was very excited by this time and had the "buck ager." The elder Sanders took the rifle from him, fired at the uninjured bear, shooting him through the mouth, cutting off the tongue at the base, knocking out several teeth and breaking the lower jaw bone. John Sanders was standing 150 yards down the hill from the bear when Banks fired, striking the already frenzied animal in the heart. With a roar like a cannon, a leap and a lunge the bear with the greatest determination ran with all its fast ebbing strength for John Sanders. The young fellow was in a very precarious situation. He made for a tree that was fully 100 yards away and had just reached it in time to spring for a limb and pull himself to a place of safety when the bear fell at the base of the tree, dead.

The story is told on Mr. Sanders that he kept climbing so high "that he climbed clear out of the top." Banks and the elder Sanders are famous for their adventures with bear in the early history of this county. Sanders hunted with Moccasin Bill, who died recently and who killed more bears than any man in the state.

Furious Fighting.

"For seven years," writes Geo. W. Hoffman, of Harper, Wash., "I had a bitter battle, with chronic stomach and liver trouble, but at last I won, and cured my diseases, by the use of Electric Bitters. I unhesitatingly recommend them to all, and don't intend in the future to be without them in the house. They are certainly a wonderful medicine, all have cured such a bad case as mine." Points on Proposing.

An old fashioned book on etiquette contains a chapter on courtship that is exceedingly native. Any young man who might be contemplating a proposal of marriage, was urged strongly to select with care and due forethought the proper time and place of such proposal. For instance, he would never propose to a young woman while out boating, for if she were to refuse him it would be difficult to reach shore immediately, and the situation would obviously be awkward.

On the other hand if she should accept him the situation would be equally undesirable since too close a proximity and certain attitudes incident to the circumstances are known to threaten the safety of a boat; also said young man was advised never to propose to a young woman just before dinner. Having been without eating for some hours she would doubtless be in a less amiable frame of mind than usual, and under these conditions might refuse an offer which at another time would seem desirable.

Cures for Drinking Men.

There is but one sure cure for the drinking disease or habit and that is the simplest of all. The cure consists in eating fruits. That will cure the worst case of inebriety that ever afflicted a person. It will entirely destroy the taste for intoxicants and will make the drunkard return to the thoughts and tastes of his childhood, when he loved the luxuries nature had provided for him when his appetite had not become contaminated by false, cultivated tastes and attendant false desires and imaginary pleasures. No person ever saw a man or woman who liked fruit and who had an appetite for drink. No person ever saw a man or woman with an appetite for drink who liked fruit. The two tastes are deadly enemy with each other, and there is no room for both of them in the same human constitution. One will certainly destroy the other.

THE Hartford Herald speaking figuratively says: "The iron bridges are at present resting heavily on the Republican's stomach." But, speaking literally, which means truly, they have rested heavier on the taxpayers pocket-book than they have on anything else.

JUDGE STEPHEN NEAL, who recently died at Lebanon, Ind., was the real author of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution. He draughted the article and sent it to the Congressman from his home district as a suggestion, yet it was adopted in its original form.

INQUIRIES relative to the manner of the construction of the numerous iron bridges over the county continue to pour in upon us. People are asking us such questions as "why it costs nearly twice as much to build an iron bridge in Ohio as it does in Daviess county." We are working on a solution to this and the various other inquiries and hope to be able to answer some of them in the near future. If any one can help us to inform an inquiring public we would greatly appreciate the favor.

THE Hartford Herald seems to be of the opinion that if any one except it, ventures to discuss a proposition, quote or relate facts about a given subject obtained in a legitimate way or give an opinion concerning a public matter, that individual, before attempting to do so should arm himself with absolute, positive and certain proof of its correctness, and in connection therewith give in complete detail his authority for it. It is true that the Herald has lived long—grown silvery and otherwise in the cause—in fact, its frost-strewn locks have succumbed to the corrosive influences of constant wear against the breast of time; but when, oh! when did it pass that point so far in advance of others that entitles it to that high and exalted consideration in point of truth and veracity which it does not accord others?

Dropped Dead.

Rockport, Ky., June 29.—Sheily Warden, a prominent farmer living near the city, dropped dead near tunnel hill Sunday morning about 8 o'clock. Mr. Warden had been to Rockport and was returning home. He was in a buggy with a young man by the name of Rowe. When near tunnel hill, Mr. Warden got out and the man drove on. Hardy Shaver, a farmer was standing in his door and saw Mr. Warden fall. Rushing to his assistance he discovered that he was almost dead. Shaver ran back to his home to procure some water. But when he returned Mr. Warden had breathed his last. Shaver gave an alarm and soon several neighbors gathered in. Owing to the coroner's absence Esq. D. J. Wilcox, left for the scene, but when he reached there the corpse had been removed to the Warden home where an inquest was held. The verdict was that the deceased came to his death from heart failure. Mr. Warden's aged mother is almost prostrated over the shock. The funeral took place at Pond Run church Monday evening. Interment was in Pond Run cemetery.

Waterworks for Hartford.

A Waterworks Company has been organized and will in the near future begin the installation of a system of waterworks in Hartford. A tower, supporting a large steel tank, will be erected near the center of town and main and branch lines will extend from it to every part of the city. It is reported that the waterworks Company and the Electric Light Company will combine and thus save the expense of procuring site and erecting and maintaining a power plant.

Hartford has long been in need of waterworks and the present promoters should receive the support of all the people.

HURT BY RUNAWAY HORSE.

Miss Harriet McDowell Sustained Serious Injuries in a Smash-up Near Taylor Mines.

Miss Harriet McDowell was seriously, if not fatally, hurt by being thrown from a buggy in a runaway near Taylor Mines Wednesday afternoon about 4 o'clock.

Miss McDowell lives on the Hartford and Sulphur Springs road near Sulphur Springs. She and an uncle had, that morning, driven together to Beaver Dam where the uncle stopped to attend to some business affairs and she, unaccompanied, drove on to Taylor Mines to visit relatives. She had spent a few hours in Taylor Mines and had started alone back to Beaver Dam to join her uncle and return home. It was just outside the limits of Taylor Mines that the horse became frightened, at what is not known, for no one was in sight at the time and the unfortunate girl's sad plight was not discovered. It is thought, for several minutes afterward, when she was picked up by Robert Miller and others unconscious and seriously hurt. Her head is frightfully bruised, and it is thought that her skull is fractured. She was at once carried, on a cot, back to Taylor Mines and physicians summoned who have been in constant attendance since. At last report the injured lady was still in a serious condition and her recovery is thought to be improbable.

THE NEW RAILROAD.

Articles of Incorporation Executed and Filed With County Clerk.

The proposition to build a railroad from Madisonville through Ohio county to Fordsville or Cloverport has begun to take material shape. Articles incorporating the company under the name of the Madisonville, Hartford and Eastern Railway Co., have been filed in the County Clerk's office for record and certification to the Secretary of State. The articles of incorporation were executed at a meeting of the incorporators held at the office of Mr. R. E. L. Simmerman Wednesday afternoon, Messrs. J. W. Ford, H. H. Holman, Rowan Holbrook, George R. Lynn, Dr. W. P. Ross, John T. Moore and R. E. L. Simmerman being the incorporators.

This organization by no means guarantees that the road will be built but it is a good step in that direction. There is yet a good deal of the right of way that must be procured and considerable amount of the required $25,000 is yet unsubscribed. People over whose land the road is proposed to be run should consider the benefits, the conveniences and the splendid opportunities for developing the unlimited resources of the county that the construction of the railroad will afford. It is still for the people to say whether the road will be built. They hold the balance of power, as it were, in rights-of-way and donations. Time only will disclose their manner of disposing of that power.

As a business proposition, however, there seems to be no plausible reason why the rights-of-way should not be freely given.

BUFORD.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Pointers About Bathing—Some Popular Fallacies Exploded.

Daily cleansing of the surface of the body is not any too often. The beneficial effects of cleanliness to be effective must be systematic.

For the healthful the temperature of the bath should be neither cold nor hot—not chilling the skin by the one nor relaxing it by the other.

Morning is the best time for bathing.

The body is then neither overheated nor exhausted by hours of labor.

Brisk friction of the skin with a flesh brush or a Turkish towel promotes activity and vigor and corrects in no small degree liability to take cold.

Only the most robust person may indulge in cold baths, the best hour for cold bathing being midday between breakfast and dinner, when the system is fully braced to throw off the effects of the cold water.

A popular idea that water should not be entered while the surface of the body is warm needs to be exploded. The surface and extremities should be warm when ready for a cold bath, and exercise should be taken just previously if necessary to effect this purpose.

Success.

"Oh, yes. Succeeded to his father's millions." — New Orleans Times-Democrat.

An Indisputable SAFE INVESTMENT

The material progress which our country is now, and has been making for the past decade of years, naturally brings to the surface numerous schemes of the "get-rich-quick" character that benefit only the promoters of such, at the expense of innocent investors.

In this age of genuine prosperity with every legitimate business booming, wages high, work in abundance, giving employment to all willing to earn, and products of the farm bringing best prices; there is little or no excuse for one not to join the army of money-makers.

The first and safest investment to make is to become a reader of the CINCINNATI ENQUIRER, the greatest and most reliable newspaper in the United States. With the facts, truth and information gleaned from its columns, one may become well qualified to reach out and secure his share of profit that always accrues from investments intelligently made.

The WEEKLY ENQUIRER costs but one dollar for one year's term. The SUNDAY ENQUIRER costs you two dollars for a year. The DAILY ENQUIRER (7 issues a week) you get for fourteen dollars a year.

Without the aid of a first-class newspaper, success in any enterprise becomes problematical. For ten cents you can secure a sample copy of each, DAILY, SUNDAY and WEEKLY ENQUIRER. Address, Enquirer Company, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Boys Camp Y. M. C. A.
What boy has not yearned for a day or week in the woods truly enjoying it. Knowing the savage nature within them there are conducted 2,000 summer camps for boys throughout the United States under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Hartford is not backward and a few boys returned from just such a camp last Monday. They named it Camp Rough and they divided themselves into two divisions known as the owls and the skeeters. Harrold and McHenry Holbrook, Frank Foreman, and Douglas Felix formed the "owls" while Raymer Tinsley, Martin and Charlie Thomas, Finnegan Mattingly, Frank Russell were the "skeeters." A few of the owls got homesick, but all had a big time. Swimming, fishing, tramping, boat-riding, camp fire and turn about too cook were some of the activities. The ride on a slide on was a feature. Pepper was the chief boatman, Rusty the handy man, Brainy and Dutchman the best chiefs, Pee-wee, the water dog, and Brooksie furnished the noise. All came home lame, a few cuts, sunburned badly happy and better for the few days spent in Gods out of doors.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Sensible Suggestions For the Busy Housewife.

Finger stains may be removed by rubbing salt and lemon on the spots until they disappear. Wash afterward with clean water.

To clean lacquered silver make a strong solution of hot water and washing powder, put the articles that are tarnished into it and cook on the stove until bright.

The pineapple's crown should be twisted off if the fruit is not to be used at once, as these leaves if left on the fruit after it is ripe will absorb both flavor and juice.

The mixing pan can be quickly cleaned if a little boiling water is poured into it for a few minutes and a close cover put over. The steam softens the dried dough so that it will readily wash off.

Dandelion Wine.

Pick just the blossoms, cutting the stems off close to the flower, or the wine will be bitter. Put a gallon of the blossoms in a kettle with a gallon of water. Let it stand three days, add the yellow rind of three lemons and three oranges, boil fifteen minutes, then strain. When lukewarm, add the juice of the lemons and oranges, four pounds of white sugar and one yeast cake. Stand in a warm place for a week, strain and stand for three weeks longer, then bottle.

Washing Made Easy.

Dissolve a pound of soap in six quarts of water. When dissolved, add one tablespoonful of turpentine and three tablespoonfuls of liquid ammonia. Stir well, put in a tub with warm water enough to cover the clothes. Cover the tub well and let it remain two or three hours or overnight if you wish, then wash and rinse as usual. They will require scarcely any rubbing.

Care of Veils.

A fresh veil is a very necessary finish to a woman's costume. It is better to buy a cheap veil often than to wear an expensive one that has become stretched and frayed. A veil should be shaken out or, if very dusty, laid upon a smooth surface and brushed gently with a soft hat brush, then always rolled, never folded, as constant bending wears and breaks the net.

Potomac Poison.

The term "potomac poison" is in everybody's mouth, but few know what it really is. It develops, says What to Eat, through the action of acid on tin. That is why every can of meat or vegetables or fruits should be turned out into an earthen bowl or crock immediately upon opening the tin can, and that is why mayonnaise should never be put into tin receptacles.

Dry Cleaning Gloves.

A dry cleaning process for freshening light gloves sounds very simple, and it is said to be very effective. Into a wide mouthed bottle is put a lump of ammonia, the gloves are suspended in the bottle without touching the drug, and the bottle is tightly corked for a day. The fumes from the ammonia clean the kid and leave no odor.

Cleaning Marble Statues.

Marble statues should never be washed with soap. Instead dissolve a large lump of Spanish whiting and a teaspoonful of washing soda in enough water to moisten the whiting and form a paste. Rub this into the marble with a flannel cloth, and after an hour wash it off with warm water, dry well and polish.

Rheumatism Remedy.

For rheumatism try the very simple cure of boiling water. Take at least a pint before retiring at night. The object of taking boiling water late at night is that during the hours you are resting and the digestion is not being tried the boiling water can do its work on the gastric juices.

Glazing Meat Pie Crust.

The appearance of meat pie crusts and, in fact, almost any pastry is much improved by brushing with a mixture made by beating the yolk of an egg in two tablespoonfuls of milk. The glazing should be done about ten minutes before the pastry is taken from the oven.

Lacquered Brass.

Lacquered brass of all kinds should be cleansed with hot water and good soap and rinsed in clear hot water, then polished with a soft wooden cloth. Do not use metal polish, as it destroys the lacquer, and the polish will not stand.

Cleaning the Carpet.

In taking up a carpet first sweep and wipe it, then remove tacks and fold it over exactly in half. Sweep the underside thus exposed with a dampened, stiff broom, and keep on folding the carpet until its entire underside has been swept.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Writing About Facts or Fancies is a Novel Game.

Do you ever think when studying your history what you would have done had you been this person or that? It is an easy thing to see where certain persons made serious mistakes, and we naturally think we would have done differently. If Julius Caesar had stayed at home that day instead of going up to the capitol—if Napoleon had been content when he was ruler of France instead of trying to control all Europe—if Benedict Arnold had remained loyal to his country instead of trying to betray it to the enemy.

The idea suggests a good game. Let each player write for ten minutes on the subject, "Some Things I Would Do if I Were President," or "Some Things I Would Do if I Were Czar of Russia." In a similar way it may be supposed that you are a schoolteacher, a policeman, a tramp, a dog chasing a rabbit, a man with $100,000,000 and no relatives, a boy in a runaway balloon drifting away over the ocean, a sailor shipwrecked on a very small desert island, etc.

When all have written about a character the fancies are read and talked about.

Helen's P. S.

Helen had been taught to say her prayers every night, and the little prayer beginning, "Now I lay me down to sleep," was the prayer used. One day an old friend of the family, Auntie Benson, came to spend the day and on leaving asked Helen to remember her in her prayers. Helen agreed. That night after asking that a blessing should rest on her mother, father, grandparents, aunts, uncles, cousins, friends, etc., Helen rose from her knees. She walked across the room and jumped into bed. Then like a shot she jumped out again, sank down on her knees and exclaimed, "Postscript, and Auntie Benson!"

Time For Stilts.

Why don't more of our boys and girls take to stilts this summer? They're fine fun.

The Japs are the most enthusiastic stilts in the world, it is said. They make their stilts of bamboo. They mortise the blocks for the feet on to the sticks and bind them in place with withes. The queer thing is that the blocks instead of projecting sideways project backward, and the little Jap boys and girls hold on by grasping the sticks between their big toes and little toes.

For Two Girls.

A nice game for two girls is for one to have a piece of paper and pencil and write down a proverb, but instead of writing it properly only the first letter of each word must be put and a cross instead of each of the other letters in the word. Then the second player must add the proper letters over the crosses. It sometimes takes quite a long time to think of the required letters.

Careful of His Health.

Willie had had a cold, but was quite recovered. When he came to take his bath the other morning it was evident that he had learned something.

"Mamma," he cried, "hadn't I better wear my rubber boots when I have my bath? I'll get my feet wet if I don't!"

A Nursery Pantomime.

I've been to see the pantomime. Where all the people speak in rhyme. I wonder why they do. There was a little girl like me; Her hair was all in curl, and she Had got a dog like you.

They danced a merry minuet, Like this—stand up and bow, my pet! For that's the way, you know. Now, bow again and once again And watch the steps I take, and then I'll show you how they go.

A Smart Scholar.

A little girl in the first grade was asked by her father how to spell rat.

When she had spelled it, he asked her if she could spell mouse.

"Of course I can, papa. You spell it just the same way, only with little letters."

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

Bits of Wisdom Out of the Mouths of Children.

Little Bobby (looking at a big skyscraper)—Say, papa? Papa—Well, what is it, Bobby? Little Bobby—Why don't they build the cities in the country, where there's more room?

Little Johnny's father had just broken a fancy plate.

"It's a good thing you ain't a kid, papa," said the little fellow, "or mamma wouldn't do a thing to you."

Small Elmer and his father had just had a strenuous interview in the woodshed.

"I punished you merely to show my love for you," said the father.

"That's all right," sobbed the little fellow. "It's a g-good thing I ain't b-big enough to re-return your l-love."—Chicago News.

Not Quite a Fool.

"I understand that you said I was a fool?"

"Well, I'm glad to know that you are capable of understanding something."

No Distinction.

"Does your paper get out a colored supplement on Sunday?" asked the northern visitor of Colonel Bloodleigh.

"Not at all! The negroes read the same paper as the whites!" replied the distinguished editor.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Getting Wise.

"I suppose you had a blowout when you went to town?" said the slangy young man.

"Not any more," answered Farmer Cornstossel. "I've got so I know how to handle them gas burners as well as anybody."—Washington Star.

Mistaken Idea.

"But, my dear," remonstrated Mr. Meekun, "there's a good deal to be said on both sides."

"No, there isn't," answered his spouse. "I've told you what I think about it, and that's all that is going to be said."—Chicago Tribune.

Very Old Fashioned.

"Mrs. Richerleigh doesn't seem to care at all whether she is considered fashionable or not."

"No. She hasn't even gone to the hospital to be operated on for anything."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Not Sure.

"Is your daughter learning to play the piano?"

"I can't say for sure," answered Mr. Cumrox, "whether she's learning to play or I'm getting used to it."—Washington Star.

His Lack of Appreciation.

Auntie Lingerlong—There, there. Stop crying, Willie, and I'll kiss you again.

Willie—Aw, that's what I'm crying about!—Woman's Home Companion.

A Reasonable Request.

"Cut the wood and I'll give you a dinner."

"Better lemme git a little practice fust, ma'am, by cuttin' de beef-steak."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Crops Good.

Traveler—This seems to be a pretty good farming section.

Native—Waal, yes. There's more gold bricks sold around here than anywhere else.—Brooklyn Life.

Italian Fruits.

She—I wonder why so few men are regular churchgoers?

He—I don't know, unless it's because there is no law prohibiting it.—Kansas City Independent.

Sorry For Him.

Mrs. Harduppe—John, I'm sure there's a burglar in the house.

Mr. Harduppe—Well, I feel sorry for him. I know what it is to work hard for nothing.—Pack.

Nothing has ever equalled it. Nothing can ever surpass it.

FRIDAY, JUNE 30.

THE PRICE

Is the Thing That Interests
the Equity Tobacco Growers.

Owensboro, Ky., June 27.—The deliveries of tobacco on Monday were again very heavy at all the local receiving houses. The deliveries on Friday before had been about the heaviest of the year and these all prove the contention of the Equity people that large quantities of tobacco had been held for late delivery. At the upper Equity house the space was so congested that the receiving of more tobacco had to be delayed temporarily. At the lower houses the work of pricing has been going on rapidly and as it is prized it is being shipped to Louisville. For some time past shipments have been made daily.

The estimates on the acreage all over the county and in adjoining counties show that the acreage has been cut much short of what had been previously expected it would be. Many deliberately cut their crop short, and the dry weather completed the shortening process. Many persons who have raised tobacco heretofore have abandoned the crop entirely this year.

The matter of chiefest interest now to all who have tobacco in the Equity houses is the price they will get. Since it has become plain that the crop is short, they feel very hopeful of getting more than they were at first led to believe they would get. This has caused them to be more enthusiastic than ever before about the Equity plan.

Embarrassing Dust.

Don't neglect a careful dusting or, better still, a quick rinsing whenever you are going to use china and cut glass which has been hidden away in closets. No matter how short a time the dishes have been out of use, they are bound to have gathered a little dust, which may reveal itself later in embarrassing ways.

Keep Tea Air Tight.

Tea owes its flavor to a certain fine volatile oil which is present only in very minute quantities. The fact that it is so volatile renders it most necessary to keep tea in an airtight caddy.

For Hardwood Floors.

Cut up one pound of white paraffin wax in one quart of spirits of turpentine. When the wax is dissolved, add one-half gallon of linseed oil. Apply with a cloth.

To Banish Bedbugs.

For bedbugs make a strong solution of alum water, and apply while hot with a brush, painting the inside of bedsteads and slats and springs.

Are You Interested In a Money Saving Proposition?

We are merchants from "way back"—the kind that grew from the "branch up." Confidence is the foundation of our story. Trustworthy dealings the plot and our goods are the conquering heroes. In these days of competition and strife it is very hard at times to separate the wheat from the chaff, but acting upon the theory of "seeing is believing" we invite you to visit our store and compare goods and prices with the goods you are now buying. We have no old goods to show you, neither do we carry at any time any goods but what represents the highest quality for the price. We save our customers all the cash discounts, interest on money, in fact, in every case where a cent can be saved for our customers we take advantage of it and make the prices lower. And again we are always looking for something better, always working to secure values and style superior to other stores. This is why our sales of to-day is better than last year. Let us show you good goods sold on the cardinal principles of honesty and fair and square dealings at as low prices as are consistent with all honorable methods of merchandizing. We are always pleased to have our friends call and it is always a pleasure to show you our goods.

Shoes.

In this department we feel that it is incomparable. The word "Quality" is stamped all over our stock, and every pair of Shoes we sell represents the very best values that can be produced for the price. Some of the different Shoes we sell the manufactures have from season to season perfected and strengthened what have proven to be their weak points until to-day these Shoes are as near perfection as the shoe makers art can produce.

THE LATEST NEWS.

Gathered From Various Sources
Over the Country--Brief
Items.

A band of about a hundred Yaqui Indians are reported to be on the warpath in the region of the San Miguel river in Mexico, where they have murdered about a dozen ranchers and a number of women and children.

A rumor was in circulation in St. Petersburg Monday night that Gen. Kuropatkin had been killed. There was another rumor that 70,000 Russians had been cut off by Gen. No. gi's army. Neither report has been confirmed by press dispatches or the Russian General Staff.

The trial of Louis Mitchell, colored, charged with attempting to poison the family of Judge James H. Mulligan, was commenced at Lexington yesterday afternoon without James Mulligan, Jr., being present. Repeated efforts have been made to have him appear against the negro, but failing in this the Commonwealth decided to try the case without him.

Secretary of State Hay was prostrated by an attack of uraemia at his summer home at Newburg, N. H., Sunday evening, and two specialists from Boston were summoned by special train. The secretary's trouble yielded to treatment and he seems clear of danger unless unexpected complications should set in. He will be confined to his bed, however, for several days.

The President and Secretary Taft have between them brought the Loomis-Bowen case to a close after a very thorough investigation of every phase of the affair and the exoneration of Secretary Loomis. The President sent to Secretary Taft a scathing letter of rebuke to Bowen, concluding with an order that Mr. Bowen be dismissed.

It is reported that Chinese sentiment in opposition to the exclusion laws of the United States is growing fast, and is manifested in many ways to the detriment of American interests in the Orient. The exclusion of Chinese coolies from Hawaii and the Philippine Islands is regarded as particularly obnoxious. The Chinese Government is being urged by many of its subjects to take a firm stand in the matter.

Russia has notified President Roosevelt of the tentative selection of M. Nelidoff and Baron Rosen as her plenipotentiaries to discuss peace with the representatives of Japan. It is believed that Japan's selections, also tentative, are Baron Komura and Minister Takahira. It is expected that both Russia and Japan will consent to an official announcement in a few days. The President is urging the belligerents to arrange for a meeting of the plenipotentiaries on August 1. There is no immediate prospect of an armistice, but the rainy weather in Manchuria, it is believed, will have the effect of delaying army operations.

In Memory.

Of little Jessie, the two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee, who died June 13, 1905.

Jessie is now at rest
In the land of joy and love,
Where none can enter but the best
To live with the angels above.

Then father and mother weep no more,
But live as Jesus would have you do,
And some future time on the golden shore
You can live with Jessie too.

To life this dear angel did cling,
For on earth no more she could be;
But now she is with sister and can sing,
The songs of Jesus full and free.

Good friends, dear friends, live as she
So you can join the heavenly band;
When God shall call for thee,
To come home to the promise land.

Dear Jessie has won the prize,
And on earth no more shall stay;
But we can meet her beyond the skies,
Where there is continued day.

Then let us ever faithful live,
That we may meet her on the shore,
Where Jesus alike will give,
His children a home forevermore.

A FRIEND.
